Welcome Message

The 32nd Annual Mansoura Otolaryngology Conference
"Updates in ORL Practice"
(MORLS Scientific Week)

Dear Esteemed Guests and Colleagues,

It is with great pleasure that we welcome you to the 32nd Annual Mansoura Otolaryngology Conference, organized by the Department of Otolaryngology – Faculty of Medicine, Mansoura University.

As we gather under the theme "Updates in ORL Practice", we are proud to host this scientific event in one of Egypt's most prestigious academic institutions - Mansoura University.

Renowned for its legacy of medical excellence and innovation, the university stands as a pillar of knowledge and a beacon for generations of physicians, researchers, and scientists.

Our journey begins in the heart of Mansoura - the City of Science and Scientists - where history meets intellect, and where generations of great Egyptian doctors were educated and trained. Mansoura continues to serve as a thriving hub for medical advancement and academic distinction.

The second part of our conference will take us to the iconic city of Port Said - the Brave City, the City of Beauty and Magic. Nestled by the entrance of the Suez Canal, Port Said boasts a rich heritage, breathtaking nature, and a unique cultural spirit. It is an honor to extend our conference activities to this vibrant city that reflects resilience, progress, and charm.

This conference is not just a platform for scientific updates, but also a celebration of collaboration, learning, and shared progress in the field of Otolaryngology. We look forward to engaging discussions, fruitful partnerships, and memorable experiences over the course of these days.

Thank you for being part of this distinguished gathering.

Warm regards,
Conference President
Prof. Mohamed El-Kotb
Head of the Department of Otolaryngology
