Welcome Message

Dear Delegates,

Welcome to the SPIC EGYPT Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) 14th international Congress "IPC Stretching: from Basics to New Trends " in collaboration with Central Infection Prevention and Control department Ain Shams University under patronage of his excellence Professor Ali ElAnwar Ain Shams University Dean.

We are thrilled to have you join us as we explore the remarkable advancements and profound impact of IPC activities worldwide.

In an era where the significance of IPC has never been more apparent, our collective efforts in research, innovation, and practice are vital in safeguarding public health. This congress serves as a platform for sharing cutting-edge knowledge, fostering collaboration, and celebrating the successes that shape our field.

Together, we will delve into the latest strategies, technologies, and best practices that are driving the evolution of IPC. Your participation and insights are invaluable as we strive to build a safer, healthier future for all. Thank you for being part of this essential gathering. Let us inspire and empower each other to continue making a difference in infection prevention and control.

Warm Regards,
